Of course I am enrolled in the family doctor programme. My family doctor has an overview of my health – that gives me peace of mind.

Your health in the best possible hands

In the family doctor programme, your preferred doctor's practice should be your first port of call when it comes to health matters. This gives you access to high-quality, long-term care and strengthens the role of your family doctor.

Being enrolled in the family doctor programme ensures the continued existence of your local family doctor's practice.

What are the benefits for you?

One point of contact for all health matters

Most complaints are treated directly in the family doctor's practice. If other specialist consultations are required, the family doctor will help to clarify what these are, coordinate the treatments and analyse the results.

Your overall health at a glance

All of your treatment data is brought together in one place, creating a complete and comprehensive picture of your health.

Verifiably better healthcare

You will benefit from individual services offered by your health insurance company in the family doctor programme, such as more frequent check-ups and close monitoring of chronic illnesses.

More time for you

Since the family doctor programme means less bureaucracy for the entire practice team, doctors have more time for their patients.

Better care in the future

Your participation in the family doctor programme means that your family doctor will be paid more fairly and therefore has better planning certainty.
